

Our Idea for Landshut

1. Shaping a city which offers quality of life for every generation.

Landshut is growing - and we want to shape this growth to develop our quality of life, our community and our nature. Our actions are based on serving the common good and equipping our city for the future.

2. Housing must be affordable – in vibrant, green neighborhoods.

We will support social and cooperative building projects, activate vacant properties and strengthen the Stadtbau Landshut. Sustainable infill construction saves us sealing ever more land elsewhere.

3. The mobility of the future is safe, environmentally friendly and fair.

We will create attractive options for cyclists, pedestrians and users of public transport as well as relieve the city centre of car traffic. Everyone should be able to reach their destination safely and conveniently, regardless of how they travel.

4. Protecting the climate protects people.

Urban development must be environmentally friendly. We will invest in renewable energy, the renovation of buildings and in green spaces in order to create a climate-resilient and healthy city for us all.

5. Nature is our most valuable asset.

We will make our city centre greener. More trees and less sealed surface protect biodiversity and enhance our quality of life. We will safeguard our green spaces not only around the Isar.

6. Economic strength and sustainability go hand in hand.

Landshut should be a role model for an ecological and innovative economy. We will support regional economic cycles, start-ups, fair procurement and cooperation with universities and the district council.

7. Education is key to a fair future.

We will invest in schools and childcare services based on families' needs. Education should be accessible to everyone – from early years to higher education and lifelong learning.

8. Culture is the soul of the city.

Culture thrives on interaction and this needs space. We will foster a diverse cultural scene and create the necessary conditions for this. We will bring the "Stadttheater" back to the city centre.

9. Community grows through participation and diversity.

Regardless of origin, age, or way of life – everyone belongs in Landshut. We support integration, gender equality, inclusion and the visibility of queer life.

10. Democracy thrives on participation.

Through new forms of civic engagement, we will make politics more transparent and easier to understand. Decisions should be taken together with the people of Landshut.

11. Solidarity makes Landshut strong.

Volunteering, clubs and neighborhood networks are the backbone of our city. We support this commitment and want to create spaces for people to come together. We stand for cooperation with all the democratic parties. For us, anti-democratic forces have no place in Landshut.
